Accidents will happen in the best regulated automobile families.

Every room in the Morgan house will be lined with coalhods from this time forth.

Art will be extremely long in Manchester, N. H., as the result of that million-dollar bequest.

If some of the capitol's hot air had exploded it would have done more harm than Holt's popper.

The United States is now confronted with the prospect of boarding Mr. Huerta for the remainder of his natural life.

"Eat alfalfa and be happy" says one great discoverer. We prefer to wait and see whether it is a grass, a crop or a legume. We like to know what we are eating.

We sincerely hope that the Liberty bell will safely find its way back to Philadelphia after its long journey to the Pacific coast. There was no particular call to take the relic to the coast anyway.

The Burlington Free Press assures us that Theodore N. Vail will not remove from Vermont but will merely have a winter residence in New Jersey. It would be too bad for him to drop the address "Lyndon Center, Vt.," after so valiantly presenting it in the capitals of Europe as well as in the United States.

A report from Berlin, Germany, announces that "every week the admiralty (German) is launching two monster U-boats with sufficient power and supplies to cross the Atlantic." Is this a hidden attempt at intimidation of the United States? Or was the Atlantic voyage idea used just to accentuate the power of the vessels?

Robert Lansing, the new secretary of state, knows international law, and he isn't a great talker.—Bradford Opinion.

Yes, he is sticking to his job pretty well and hasn't taken any speaking tours with Alpine yoddlers. Indeed, Mr. Lansing gives evidence that he is taking his job seriously and is, therefore, willing to confine his energies to that alone. Because of that apparent determination, the people of the United States feel relief, albeit they are still holding their judgment of Mr. Lansing in abeyance until he has been given the customary period for proving his worth. For the present they are satisfied with the way he is conducting himself.

The assertion that one-half of the forest fires that are doing such huge damage in the United States could have been averted brings home to every person the need for greater care. The assertion is made by the federal forest service in the course of its usual appeal in behalf of greater caution. Up to the present time there has been little danger of forest fires in Vermont because of the cold or wet weather; but along in mid-summer the heat is bound to dry the grass and young tree growth to such an extent that there will be real danger of conflagration. Therefore, the time to make good resolutions against carelessness in the fields and forests is right now. A slight assistance rendered the federal forest service will be of great help in preserving the forests.

Germany's most effective answer to the American note on the sinking of the Lusitania was the action of her submarine in giving the steamship Armenian ample warning before attacking her, a warning that was denied to the Lusitania. The action in the latter case indicates that Germany at times recognizes the rights of the seas as stipulated by international law. At the same time the later incident of the Anglo-Californian steamer indicates that the unarmed steamer has some chance at escape when given warning of the presence of a submarine, which incident goes to show that encounters between submarines and steamers are not entirely one-sided when the commander and men of the steamer are courageous. The submarine is not by any means all-powerful against a steamer that is skillfully maneuvered or against a steamer having great speed. There is inspiration for British shipping in the escape of the Anglo-Californian.

A RELAXATION OF "FOURTH" VIGILANCE.

The increased number of casualties from the Independence day celebration just passed, in comparison with the results of the year just preceding, indicates that there has been a slight relaxation of the efforts to have a safe and sane Fourth. The public is getting somewhat negligent, if not forgetful, of its obligation in the matter, and the tendency is toward a return to the horrible conditions which have marked so many celebrations of the anniversary in years gone by. From 1914 to 1915 there was a marked change for the worse both in the number of people killed and in the number of those injured, while the property damage directly traceable to the celebra-bration was more than doubled. The comparison is anything but satisfactory to those who have labored long in an effort to reduce the casualties to a minimum and to make proper safe; and, as a result, it is brought strongly to the attention of the entire people of the country that there must be a tightening of the grasp on the safe and sane idea. There must be renewed and continued agitation of the matter until its importance has become drilled into the minds of everyone whom it is possible to reach by means of the usual agents of publicity. Continual vigilance is the price of comparative immunity from death and serious wounds. Long before the next celebration of Independence day the agitation for a more careful observance of the event ought to be started and carried through with great vigor up to the eve of the nation's birthday. We are surely going backward in safety and sanity.

WILLIAMSTOWN.

The Rural Good Luck club will meet this week with Mrs. James H. Walbridge on Saturday, July 10. Subject, "The Valley of the Yosemite."

Three cars of our young people went to the White mountains on Monday, the 5th, starting about 5 a. m., and returning at 10 p. m. They enjoyed the trip very much, though they found that the roads were not good on account of late rains and were both rough and muddy in spots. Joseph Daly, Frank Hoyt and John Dow were the chauffeurs for the trip.

The woman in the case is Mrs. Clarence Walker of Montreal. They were arrested at Alburg by Inspector John Kaba Saturday evening on train 52 and brought to Burlington Sunday noon. Ware has retained M. G. Leary as counsel and United States Commissioner J. T. Stearns on Monday adjourned the hearing until July 12, on request of Mr. Leary.

Ware was fined at $500, which Mr. Ware has not yet been able to furnish. Mrs. Walker became recognized to the government as $250 for her appearance as a witness at the October term of United States court, to be held at Rutland.

WATERBURY

Death of Mrs. William Carpenter Came Sunday—Funeral This Afternoon.

Mrs. William Carpenter died at the home of her son, Daniel Royce, in Duxbury, Sunday, after a long and suffering illness with paralysis. Nettie Picknell was born in New Hampshire 67 years ago, but has lived in Vermont for the past 35 years. She was three times married, to Oscar Royce, Joseph Wilson and William Carpenter, Mr. Carpenter surviving her. She leaves five children, Mrs. Frank Blake of Northfield, Daniel Royce of Duxbury, Dexter Royce of Quincy, Mass., Mrs. Belle Ramon of Duxbury and Frank Royce of New York state; also an adopted son, Harry Spaulding of Duxbury. There are nine grandchildren. Mrs. Carpenter is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Oscar Scribner of Greenfield, Mass., and Mrs. Hiram Hyde of Brattleboro; and one half-brother, Harvey Plummer of Plainfield, N. H. The funeral was held from the home of Mr. Royce this afternoon at 2 o'clock, burial at Duxbury Corners. Rev. V. L. Smith of the Methodist church officiated and music was furnished by the Fiske sisters of Waterbury Center. Mrs. Carpenter had lived in many places in Vermont, among them Tunbridge, Berlin and Worcester.

The funeral of Mrs. Joseph Thompson was held from the home of her brother, Van Henderson, Saturday afternoon, Rev. W. L. Boicourt officiating. The bearers were George Thompson, William Thompson, Van Henderson and Harry Henderson. Among those present from out of town were George Thompson and family of Bolton, Harry Henderson of White River Junction and Mrs. Heber Holman of Randolph.

News has been received of the death in Evanston, Ill., of William Cooley, nephew of the late William Cooley of the Cooley Manufacturing Co. Mr. Cooley lived in his uncle's family while here and learned machinery work in the company. He left here for the Otis Elevator works in Chicago, becoming superintendent. He was born in Missouri 45 years ago and leaves a wife and three boys. He lived here probably about 20 years ago and while here was a member of the band. His death was caused by an operation for tumor on the brain.

Descendants of Isaiah Huntley and Elizabeth Church Huntley, who were born in Lyme, Conn., moved from there to Marlow, N. H., and thence to Duxbury, with their families, to the number of 20, met at the home of J. F. Somerville Monday. A picnic dinner was enjoyed, pictures taken, games played, supper eaten and a theatre party tendered by Mr. Somerville in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Huntley had six boys and one girl and most of the descendants in Vermont came from five of these. Those included in the reunion Monday were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman, Miss Nellie Lewis and Miss Emily Lewis of Claremont, N. H., E. W. Huntley, Miss Ollie Somerville, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Smith and the families of Dr. G. S. Bidwell, J. F. Somerville and E. F. Palmer. Judge Huntley was the oldest member of the party and his grandson, E. Huntley Palmer, the youngest. At one time Duxbury Corner was practically all owned by the Huntley and Arms families, the place now owned by J. F. Somerville at the corners being a part of the original Huntley property. The family has always been active in work for the town. Calvin Huntley was town clerk in 1819 for a time and since 1846 the office and most of the time that of treasurer has been in the Huntley family. The gathering Monday, it is hoped, will be an annual event, when others from other towns may also come and join in the reminiscences.

Stone, Mr. Stone being pastor of the church from 1839 to 1847. A more recent one was a new one of Mr. C. M. Sheldon, D. D., taken while touring with the "flying squadron." CURRENT COMMENT

Autoists and the Law.

The Barre Times thinks this paper is based on the automobiles and says, "If few, if any communities is there strict interpretation of the 10-mile-an-hour restriction because it is conceded that such a restriction is unreasonable." Conceded by whom? Why, the automobilists, of course! And being an unreasonable law, they proceed to violate it every hour of the day. They are the best judges, aren't they? And if it is "conceded" that the law is unreasonable, why not amend it?—Vergennes Enterprise.

Earle Impey, Aged 30, Was in North Troy Monday for Celebration.

North Troy, July 7.—Earle Impey, aged 30, died at 7:30 Monday evening after an hour's illness under circumstances that have given rise to the belief that some kind of poisoning caused his death.

Impey, whose home is in Richmond, came to this village Monday to attend the celebration of the Fourth, with Homer Buck of Troy, for whom he works. They started for Troy at 6:30 and had reached east hill, when Impey became violently ill and was taken into the home of John Donigan. Dr. W. A. Young of Westfield was summoned, but Impey lived only an hour. Dr. A. M. Butterfield, of this village arrived after the death.

Neither physician would issue a burial permit. Dr. B. H. Stone of the state laboratory at Burlington came yesterday afternoon to perform an autopsy on the body.

Mr. Impey leaves his wife, whom he married a month ago.
